

In the beginning,
God makes the heavens
and the earth.
God makes light to shine.
He makes the trees
and the fruit, the sun,
the moon, and the stars,
the fish,
the birds,
and all the animals.
God makes the man
and the woman
in his image.
He blesses them and says:
"Fill the earth.
I give it to you."
And God sees
that it is good.

The descendants of Abraham,
the Hebrews,
become slaves of Pharaoh,
the king of Egypt.
One day,
the Pharaoh's daughter
goes to bathe
in the river.
She sees
a little Hebrew baby
floating in a basket
on the water!
She says to him:
"You will be my child.
You will be called Moses,
because I saved you
from the waters."
